SUNDAY LAW
IS COMING!
PROJECT 2025 & THE
PROPHECY OF REVELATION 13

A Biblical Warning for Our Time

The following is not an endorsement of any political party—Democrat or Republican.

It is not an attack on individuals, nor a call to political activism. Its sole purpose is to present what the Bible teaches about prophecy, religious liberty, and the final crisis of conscience foretold in Scripture.

The issue before us is not politics—it is worship, authority, and obedience to Jehovah.

A Prophetic Picture from Revelation

In Revelation 13, the apostle John records a solemn vision:

> "And I beheld another beast coming up out of the earth; and he had two horns like a lamb, and he spake as a dragon." —Revelation 13:11

This second beast appears lamb-like—peaceful, gentle, Christ-like—yet eventually speaks as a dragon, exercising coercive power. Bible prophecy identifies beasts with nations or kingdoms (Daniel 7:17, 23); this power described in Revelation 13, depicted as a 'lamblike beast,' is a nation that begins with principles of liberty but later enforces religious laws through civil authority.

The two horns represent Protestant Christianity and republican civil principles—not political parties, but ideals: freedom of conscience and representative government. The tragedy foretold is not the existence of religion or government, but their union.

A nation "speaks" by its laws. When religious belief seeks enforcement through legislation, liberty is lost—and prophecy is fulfilled.

Church and State: A Repeated Pattern

History confirms this danger.

- Ancient Israel, when rejecting Christ, appealed to Rome to enforce religious judgment.
- The Medieval Church, united with the state, enforced doctrine through persecution.
- The Inquisition stands as a warning of what happens when conscience is ruled by law.

The Voice of the Dragon

Revelation continues:

> "And he exerciseth all the power of the first beast before him… and causeth the earth… to worship the first beast." —Revelation 13:12

This power compels worship—not through persuasion, but pressure. Scripture explains how:

> "That no man might buy or sell, save he that had the mark." —Revelation 13:17

This is economic coercion—rewarding compliance and punishing dissent.

The Bible identifies this enforced worship not as a microchip, but as submission to religious authority in opposition to God's commandments.

What Is the Mark of the Beast?

The mark of the beast is not yet enforced, but Scripture and history identify its nature.

God's law declares:

> "The seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God."
> —Exodus 20:10

The Catholic Church openly acknowledges that Sunday observance rests on church authority, not Scripture, and that this change represents ecclesiastical power.

When Sunday observance becomes a civil requirement, enforced by law, then—and only then—does it become the mark of the beast.

At that moment, humanity will face a clear choice:

- Obey God's commandments, or
- Submit to human religious authority

The Push for Religious Law

In recent years, influential voices have openly argued for:

- Sunday laws ("blue laws")
- State-enforced religious morality
- Punishment of "heresy" or "blasphemy"
- The removal of separation between church and state

These ideas are not new. They echo past centuries when dissenters were fined, imprisoned, or worse.

One chilling historical example shows how religious laws once punished those who denied church doctrine—even prescribing death for repeated "blasphemy." These were not secular tyrannies, but religious governments claiming to act for the common good.

So according to Bible prophecy in the near future the churches of Protestant America will appeal to the strong arm of civil power then papists and Protestants will unite, the law will be invoked against commandment keepers.

False Unity and Ancient Errors

1. The immortality of the soul
2. Sunday sacredness

These teachings form a bridge between Protestantism, Roman Catholicism, and spiritualism.

God's call is urgent:

> "Come out of her, My people, that ye be not partakers of her sins." —Revelation 18:4

To come out of Babylon is not merely to leave an institution—it is to reject doctrines not grounded in God's Word.

The True God and True Worship

The Bible is clear:

> "To us there is but one God, the Father… and one Lord Jesus Christ." —1 Corinthians 8:6

Jesus Himself said:

"My Father is greater than I." (John 14:28)
God does not ask for forced worship. Love cannot be compelled.

> "Choose you this day whom ye will serve." —Joshua 24:15

Where Will You Stand?

Prophecy is not given to frighten—it is given to prepare.

Soon, worship will no longer be a private matter. Laws will test conscience. Neutrality will not be possible.

The question is not what party you belong to, but:

- Will you obey God rather than men?
- Will you stand for truth when it costs comfort?
- Will you follow the Lamb wherever He goes?

Now is the time to return to the old landmarks. Now is the time to study God's Word. Now is the time to choose Christ fully.

> "If Jehovah be God, follow Him." —1 Kings 18:21

Which side will you be on?
